BALCHIK, WELL (GYMUS WELL)

23.11.2022/11:12

The spring existed even before the Palace was built. Locals called it "Gümüş Bunar" (Silver Well) because of its silver-clear water, which was always cold and very good to drink. The queen also appreciated the wonderful thirst-quenching taste of the water, preferring it to that of the other fountains in the residence. That is why she decided to build the well in biblical style. The silver well is made of stone blocks with crosses cut into them, and its opening is covered with a heavy wrought iron lid. The only brick wall is decorated with exquisitely crafted majolica from the 15th century. It is the work of the skilled Florentine artist Andrea de la Robbia and is called "The Adoration of the Child".
